Ali Woodson

LOS ANGELES / CHICAGO – It is with great sorrow that we put pen to paper and send our condolences and share our memories of Ali Woodson. Our professional association with Ali spanned some 2 decades. Our voice is not alone in speaking the highest praise for his talent and performance acumen. As a writer and performer it was Ali's musical anthem, Treat Her Like A Lady, that introduced a new generation of music fans to the legendary Temptations and allowed this Motown super-group to sustain its musical legacy into the 80's and early 90's.

In Ali's post Temptations years we had the good fortune to join him in live and studio performances. It is with these studio performances we are most proud. Ali's performance on You Need Love and What Will I Do are by some critics account the most memorable since Treat Her Like A Lady. What makes these selections so endearing is that Ali's studio performance is also captured on video. Long time fans and those new to his talent can enjoy and share what this master showman loved so much and excelled at, singing and performing.

Ali's voice and charisma was a significant contribution to IT'S NOT SO EASY. In the wake of his loss we are proud to have been able to capture him at what many feel was his finest recording performance in recent years. You Need Love was the perfect vehicle for his talent. Ali, critics and his many fans agree.

"...Every track a winner, but You Need Love with the mighty Ali Ollie Woodson on vocals takes the biscuit."... B.Towler "The Lowdown" - Soul Express

Ali also appears on What Will I Do, with Jean Carn, and on background vocals on Just Like This. Video of his studio performance is on our interactive CD-ROM and our online version. (Links above) Singles and the full CD are available on iTunes as well as brick and mortar locations. We urge everyone to enjoy and share the music this talented performer contributed so wonderfully to.
